Glossary

Automatic Document Feeder – ADF

Is a great feature that gives you the ability to feed several pages into a multifunction printer, scanner or copier, allowing you to print, copy or scan multiple pages at once without having to manually insert each piece of paper.

Recommended Monthly Page Volume – RMPV

The Recommended Monthly Print Volume would be the amount to print to keep your machine in optimal condition.

Maximum Monthly Duty Cycle – MMDC

Is the maximum number of pages a device could deliver in a month.

Dots Per Inch – DPI

DPI stands for Dots per Inch, referring to the number of ink droplets a printer will produce per inch while printing an image.

- Images Per Minute – IPM
- Pages Per Minute – PPM

This is the measurement for print speed expressed and either IPM or PPM.

Cost Per Page – CPP

The cost per page (CPP) is calculated by dividing the price of the printer cartridge by its page yield.

$CPP = \text{Cartridge Cost} / \text{Cartridge yield in pages.}$

LAN – Local Area Network

A Local area network (LAN) is a collection of devices connected together in one physical location, such as a building, office or home. A LAN can be small or large, ranging from a home network with one user to an enterprise network with thousands of users and devices in an office or school.

Mega Bytes – MB

Megabyte (MB) is a data measurement unit applied to digital computer or media store.

International Organization for Standardization – ISO

The International organization for Standardization (ISO) is an international nongovernmental organization made up of national standards bodies; it develops and publishes a wide range of proprietary, industrial and commercial standards and is comprised of representatives from various national standards organizations.
